Division of Biblical Studies & Philosophy

Major: Pre-Seminary

Division Objectives and Purposes

The division seeks to:

- Enable the student to gain a thorough grasp of certain key books of the Bible and an understanding of the background, structure, content, and spiritual message of the Bible as a whole.
- Encourage a firm conviction concerning the divine inspiration of the Scriptures, a commitment to the authority of the Bible, and thus to study and interpret the Book according to proper principles of exegesis, to understand and believe its teachings, to obey and practice its precepts, and to share and impart its truths.

- Enlighten the student with respect to the historical development of theological thought and then to encourage the construction of a consistent, well reasoned and honest theology within the framework of evangelical Pentecostal orthodoxy, in a personal quest for truth.

- Enrich with a broad background of secular studies, coupled with biblical languages, that student who has a view toward later enrollment in a reputable graduate school or seminary.

- Ensure that the student will gain a knowledge of the thought of pivotal thinkers in the development of Western philosophy, acquire skill in conceptual analysis, and demonstrate the ability to express clearly and consistently an independent opinion.

- Integrate the student's faith and learning as evidenced by being able to relate biblical principles to secular knowledge and vice versa, and share its implications for the whole person in the totality of life.

Course Objectives and Purposes The Biblical Studies Core

The biblical studies core underscores the basic objectives and purposes of the college. It serves the purpose of exposing each student to biblical organization and content, providing an understanding of evangelical biblical interpretation, the history of the expansion of the church, the development of Christian doctrine, and an understanding of evangelical theology.

The Pentecostal commitment of Bethany Bible College and the Biblical Studies Division is reflected in the five foundation courses required for graduation, each of which includes significant attention to appropriate and specific Pentecostal themes and issues.

Biblical Studies Core Requirements — 30 Units

Foundation Core		15 Units
OT	1 Old Testament	3
NT	1 New Testament	3
IS	1 Interpretational Skills	3
CH	1 Church History	3
ST	1 Systematic Theology	3

An additional 15 units of biblically related study is required, courses to be taken from no less than three of the above areas of biblical study, or from approved cross-disciplinary courses. (No more than 6 units of upper division biblical studies core courses may be from approved cross-disciplinary courses.)

* Biblical studies core for the Church Leadership major see Church Leadership requirements.

Pre-Seminary Major

Students who anticipate completing their preparation at the graduate level in seminary should consider the Pre-Seminary major. This sequence provides intensive study in biblical languages and a broad academic base for further graduate-level study in Bible, theology and professional ministerial courses.

Students who select a Pre-Seminary major should know that, while this course of study is the preferred undergraduate preparation for graduate seminary work, it will postpone one's ability to satisfy the educational requirements for ministerial credentials with the Assemblies of God until a seminary degree program is completed.

Course Offerings (Division of Biblical Studies and Philosophy)

Bible

BI 105. Apocalyptic Literature (3)
This is a study of Daniel and Revelation. An analytical study of Daniel is made in connection with its historic setting and prophetic prediction. The prophecies of the Revelation are studied in detail and comparisons are made with predictions of Daniel. (This course counts for either Old Testament or New Testament upper division.)

BI 198. Guided Research in Biblical Literature (1-3)
The student will do individually guided research in areas of interest to the student. Hours and approval by arrangement with the divisional chair. Enrollment is limited to juniors and seniors.

TBA

Old Testament

OT 1. Old Testament (3)

Four frameworks will be utilized in the study of the Old Testament, in order to provide a sound grasp of its message: historical, literary, canonical, theological, with emphasis on the Spirit of the Lord. (Prerequisite for all other Old Testament courses)

OT 105. Hebrew History 1 (3)
This course covers Creation through the book of Judges.

OT 110. Hebrew History 2 (3)
This course covers the Old Testament from the monarchy through post-exilic times.

OT 115. The Major Prophets (3)
An introductory study of biblical prophecy with a systematic investigation of the three major prophets: Isaiah, Jeremiah and Ezekiel. Consideration is given to historical backgrounds and the contributions of each prophet to developments in Old Testament thought.

OT 120. The Minor Prophets (3)
The minor prophets are each considered and expounded in the light of their distinctive messages, time and place of ministry, and circumstances of writing.

OT 125. Poetic Literature (3)
An introduction to the character of Hebrew poetry prepares the student for the study of the five great Old Testament poetic writings, and investigation of Old Testament wisdom prepares for the study of the three Old Testament wisdom books. While each writing is studied in its historical setting, attention is also given to the spiritual and moral lessons which apply to contemporary society.

OT 198. Guided Research in Old Testament Literature (1-3)
The student will do individually guided research in areas of interest to the student. Hours and approval by arrangement with the division chair. Enrollment is limited to juniors and seniors.

New Testament

NT 1. New Testament (3)
Four frameworks will be utilized in the study of the New Testament, in order to provide a sound grasp of its message: socio-historical, literary, canonical, theological, with emphasis on the emergence of the church. (Prerequisite for all other New Testament Courses)

NT 105. The Life and Teachings of Jesus (3)
An analysis is made of the gospel materials with a view to establishing a life of Christ. Special emphasis is given to the teachings of Jesus in their historical and contemporary contexts.

NT 110. Acts (3)
A comprehensive study of the origin and nature of Apostolic Christianity, as a Jewish community, through its early development beyond this Jewish background. Special attention will be given to the role of the Holy Spirit in this process.

NT 115. The Life and Literature of Paul (3)
A study of the life (Acts), literature (epistles), and thought (theology) of the Apostle Paul within its historical and cultural setting. Concentration is given to Paul's masterpiece (Romans), examining its content, structure, and contemporary application.

NT 120. Corinthians and Thessalonians (3)
An intensive study of these four epistles with consideration of Paul's hope of the return of Christ, his treatment of church problems, and his discipline. Along with an exegesis of the books, their devotional and spiritual values are stressed.

NT 125. Prison Epistles (3)
This course includes Paul's prison epistles, consisting of Colossians, Philippians, Ephesians, and Philemon. These four Pauline works are given careful and thorough investigation.

NT 130. Hebrews and General Epistles (3)
Hebrews consists of a detailed study of the fulfillment of Old Testament types and institutions in the person and work of Christ. The distinctive message and content of selected general epistles are carefully considered, including James and the two epistles of Peter.

NT 135. The Life and Literature of Peter (3)
A study of the life (Acts), literature (epistles), and thought (theology) of the Apostle Peter within its historical and cultural setting. Concentration is given to Peter's masterpiece (1 Peter), examining its content, structure, and contemporary application.

NT 140. Revelation (3)
An intensive study of the book of Revelation with consideration of its historical setting, its literary structure, and its prophetic message. Special attention is given to the book's symbolism and its contemporary application.

NT 198. Guided Research in New Testament Literature (1-3)
The student will do individually guided research in areas of interest to the student. Hours and approval by arrangement with the divisional chair. Enrollment is limited to juniors and seniors. TBA

Interpretational Skills

IS 1. Interpretational Skills (3)
Skills for biblical study will be developed according to four frameworks: Inductive/deductive study; biblical languages; interpretation and the individual; interpretation and the Holy Spirit. (Prerequisite for all other Interpretational Skills courses)

IS 105. Hermeneutics (4)
Each Semester
A study of the science and laws of biblical exegesis and interpretation. The principles, methods, and rules by which a true and exact meaning of the Scriptures may be ascertained are established and classified.

Biblical Languages

BL 10A. Greek 1 (4)
Each Semester
This course introduces students to phonetics and morphology of New Testament Greek. A limited vocabulary will be learned.

BL 10B. Greek 1 (4)
Fall, Even Years
The morphology of New Testament Greek will be completed, and basic syntax will be introduced. Extensive reading in the Greek New Testament is the core of the course. A vocabulary consisting of all words occurring forty or more times in the New Testament will be learned. (Prerequisite: BL 10A) Spring, Odd Years

BL 50A. Elements of Hebrew (3)
The course will focus on morphology of biblical Hebrew, including weak verbs. An initial vocabulary will be learned. Fall, Odd Years

BL 50B. Elements of Hebrew (3)
Reading extensively in the Hebrew text will occupy the major portion of this course. Grammatical issues will be addressed as they are encountered in the text, acquainting the student with the use of reference grammars. Vocabulary control will be expanded. (Prerequisite: BL 50A) Spring, Even Years

BL 100A. Greek 2 (3)
Syntax of case, voice, tense, and mood will be studied. Inner-clause syntax will be learned through sentence diagramming. Vocabulary will be expanded, especially of the irregular verbs. (Prerequisite: BL 10B) Fall, Odd Years

BL 100B. Greek 2 (3)
Inter-clause relationships will be studied through syntax of subordinate clauses. The bearing of semantics on exegesis will occupy a significant portion of this class. Review of verb conjugation and case, voice, tense, and mood syntax will be given, as well as continued vocabulary building. (Prerequisite: BL 100A) Spring, Even Years

BL 196. Advanced Seminar in Biblical Languages (1-3)
The text of Scripture will be read and/or analyzed from the original languages of Scripture, as determined by the instructor in consultation with the student. TBA

BL 197. Practicum in Biblical Language (1-3)
An upper division student will work on a specified Greek or Hebrew language project, applying previously learned skills, under the direct supervision of the instructor. TBA

BL 198. Directed Reading/Research (1-3)
Individual, directed study in some area related to biblical language, to be arranged with the instructor. TBA

Church History

CH 1. Church History (3)
The history of the Christian Church will be studied according to the four major periods of the Early Church, Medieval Church, Modern Church, and Contemporary Church, with consideration of the expansion; movements and leaders; councils, creeds, doctrines; societal dynamics; within each period. (Prerequisite for all other Church History courses) Each Semester

CH 105. History of Christian Doctrine (3)
A study of the development of doctrine in one period of the Church's history: Pre-Nicene, Post-Nicene, Medieval, Reformation, Post-Reformation, Modern. Yearly

CH 110. Contemporary Theology (3)
A study of present day theological movements, including Romanism, liberal and evangelical Protestantism, neo-orthodoxy, and Pentecostalism. (Prerequisite: two semesters of systematic theology) Yearly

CH 198. Guided Research in Church History (1-3)
The student will do individually guided research in areas of interest to the student. Hours and approval by arrangement with the divisional chair. Enrollment is limited to juniors and seniors. TBA

Systematic Theology

ST 1. Systematic Theology (3)
Selected basic and relevant doctrines of Christendom will be investigated according to the four major theological areas of the Godhead, God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit. (Prerequisite for all other Systematic Theology classes; prerequisite: sophomore standing) Each Semester

ST 105. The Godhead and God the Father (3)

This course focuses the study of systematic theology upon the areas of the Godhead, including knowledge of God, nature of God, and Trinity; and God the Father, including the creation of man and God's providence. Yearly

ST 110. God the Son (3)

This course continues the study of ST 105, discussing man's need of a Mediator in consequence of the fall, and the personal accomplishment of that need through the life and work of Christ. Yearly

ST 115. God the Holy Spirit (3)

Continuing the study of ST 110, this course covers the person and work of the Holy Spirit in applying to individual lives the benefits of Christ's work, the establishing of a community of the redeemed, and the culminating of God's redemptive plan. Yearly

ST 198. Guided Research in Systematic Theology (1-3)

The student will do individually guided research in areas of interest to the student. Hours and approval by arrangement with the divisional chair. Enrollment is limited to juniors and seniors. TBA

Philosophy and Apologetics

Ph 6. Philosophical Ideas (3)

This introductory course surveys the basic problems, concepts, and methods related to ethical, social, and political thought in the West. Yearly

Ph 110. History of Philosophy (3)

This course is an examination of the major philosophical systems and personalities from ancient times to the present, with a focus on their views of ontology, epistemology, and axiology. Yearly

Ph 120. Contemporary Ethical Issues (3)

This is a seminar offered to qualified upper-division students. Particular emphasis is placed upon Christian ethical principles and their application to personal and social problems. (Prerequisite: one course in philosophy or permission of the professor.)

Yearly

Ph 132. Seminar in World Religions (3)

A study of the great ethnic religions, including Islam, Hinduism, and Buddhism, as well as the institutions and phenomenon of animism. The course includes an evaluation of their respective value systems.

Yearly

Ap 115. Cults (3)

A study of modern heresies and cults professing to be Christian, and methods of dealing scripturally with them. (Prerequisite: two semesters of systematic theology)

Yearly

Ap 130. Apologetics Seminar (3)

The object of this course is the establishment and deepening of an intelligent faith in the Christian religion and the Bible. Objections to biblical faith by skeptics, agnostics, and infidels are considered; and an attempt is made to resolve alleged Bible discrepancies. Emphasis is also placed upon the reasonableness of supernaturalism. The conservative viewpoint is maintained throughout.

Division of Church Ministries

Majors: Church Leadership, Missions, Religious Education

Divisional Objectives & Purposes

The Division of Church Ministries offers programs in several areas of professional ministries, including pastoral ministry, Missions, and Religious Education. The specific emphases within the Church Leadership major provide the skills and theoretical foundation for applied ministry. In addition, strong emphasis is placed on practical experience and opportunities for applying classroom study.

Church Leadership Major

The preparation of those who will engage in some form of professional ministry is the particular purpose of this major. The understanding and skills essential to the minister are drawn from several divisions to develop skills in communication, counseling and church management. In addition, students may specialize in a given area of church ministry.

Youth Ministries

Students who anticipate working with youth have more than one option available to them. Consideration should be given to preparation for general pastoral ministry as well as youth emphasis by taking the Church Leadership major with a concentration of recommended youth courses. For students who wish a more specialized preparation, the sequence of courses offered in the context of the Religious Education major offers an excellent immediate involvement in church youth ministries.

Missions

Students who wish to prepare for home or foreign missions are encouraged also to consider the Church Leadership Major with a specialization in Intercultural Relations or the Intercultural Relations major. (Refer to the Social Science section.) Appointments to missionary work are given by the Foreign Missions Department of the Assemblies of God or other missions agencies and not by the College.

Recommended Electives

Suggested courses that fulfill the licensing requirements of the Northern California and Nevada District of the Assemblies of God for the ministerial credential.

Students who complete the Church Leadership major will have concurrently completed the educational requirements for the ministerial license. Since credentials are issued by the Northern California and Nevada District independently, however, each student must take responsibility for making certain that he or she satisfies all personal and program requirements. The Church Ministries Chairperson will advise students with questions or problems.

The Major in Religious Education

The major in Religious Education is concerned with evangelism and education. These two emphases are viewed as being inseparable, deriving from the biblical commands to evangelize and disciple Christians. In this sense, much of what takes place in the ministry of the local church must be considered religious education. This major is particularly suited for persons preparing for youth ministries, given its emphasis on development of the church instructional, counseling and activities programs, study of adolescent psychology, and the religious education of youth, and evangelism.

Internship requirements may be met in a variety of formats. Students must have approval of the advisor prior to enrolling.

Center for Hispanic Ministries

The Center for Hispanic Ministries (CHM) coordinates specialized studies designed to prepare students for ministry in Hispanic Cultures.

The program provides a point of identification for students of Hispanic background to relate positively to their own cultural distinctives and to integrate fully into the community formed by faculty, staff, and student-body of Bethany Bible College.

The CHM also provides a visible forum to enhance non-Hispanic students' appreciation for the unique abilities and rich heritage represented by the Hispanic people and churches, which constitute a large and rapidly growing segment of the Assemblies of God.

The Pacific Latin American District of the Assemblies of God endorses the Center for Hispanic Ministries at Bethany Bible College.

Assemblies of God Ministerial Credentials

Students who complete the B.A. degree with a Church Leadership, Religious Education, or Missions major will have concurrently satisfied the educational requirements for credentialing with the Northern California/Nevada District Council of the Assemblies of God.

It should be noted that students majoring in Religious Education are eligible for a "specialized" license. Since credentials are issued by the Northern California/Nevada District of the Assemblies of God independently of the College, each student MUST take responsibility for making certain that he or she satisfies all personal requirements. For further details on credentialing, contact the District Secretary/Treasurer's office at the District Office. The Church Ministries Chairperson will advise students with questions or problems.

Course Offerings (Division of Church Ministries)

Practical & Pastoral Theology

PT 1. Introduction to Christian Life and Ministry (0-1)
An introduction to three major areas of personal preparation for life; the Christian's personal development and commitments as based on biblical principles, God's world and one's place in it, and contemporary forms of ministry.

PT 10. Evangelism (3)
As a basic preparation for personal soul winning, the student engages in scripture memorization. This is elaborated into a definite program for the church in community evangelism, visitation, and Sunday school enlargement campaigns. Actual plans are presented so that the entire church may be put to work. Topics considered include: motives and methods of modern evangelism including the biblical basis, the role of the pastor and the church, special evangelistic efforts and audiences, and great evangelists and evangelistic sermons of the present and recent past.

PT 102. Argumentation and Persuasion (3)
Theory and principles of persuasion and argumentation, including analysis of lines of argumentation found in contemporary social, political, and religious public addresses. Class presentation of speeches is required. (Prerequisite: Sp 2A or instructor consent).

PT 105. Assemblies of God Polity (3)
Emphasis will be given to the ecclesiastical structure of the Assemblies of God, especially in relation to District Council organization. The history of the Assemblies of God will be studied, as well as the Constitution and By-laws, and fundamental doctrines. Part of the course will give consideration to the use of parliamentary law in church structure.

PT 110. Oral Interpretation (3)
Analysis and oral interpretation of varied types of prose and poetry including Biblical literature. Individual and group readings before in-class and out-of-class audiences. (Prerequisite: SP 2A.)

PT 112. Pastoral Preaching (3)
Advanced studies in homiletics particularly concerned with the special aspects of pastoral preaching. Considerable attention is given to sermons for special occasions. (Prerequisite: PT 155.)

PT 130. Pastoral Problems Seminar (3)
This course emphasizes the seminar/discussion approach to current and relevant problems confronting the pastor. Featured will be guest speakers and resource persons who are recognized authorities in various areas of the ministry and related fields.

PT 138. Pastoral Ministries (3)
An overview of pastoral requisites: character, responsibilities, roles. Emphasis is given to distinguishing biblical patterns and current cultural expectations of the church.

PT 139. Pastoral Ministries (3)
First part of the semester will be a study of New Testament "Koinonia" with an emphasis on practice and structuring of commitment groups for the local church. The last part will emphasize visitation/evangelism in homes with a practicum in that area.

PT 140. Pastoral Ministries (3)
The concepts of worship and biblical instruction are emphasized in this class. The ideas of "receiving God's voice" and communicating His truth in a practical manner to the community - Christian and non-Christian - are dealt with.

PT 145. Pastoral Counseling (3)
This is an advanced course in counseling designed specifically for the pastor, acquainting him with the various methodology and techniques in his role as counselor.

PT 155. Homiletics (3)
For description see Division of Humanities and Fine Arts, Sp. 155. (Prerequisite: Sp 2A.)

PT 160. Expository Preaching (3)
This course is designed to be an advanced investigation into the methods of building, organizing, and delivering expository sermons. The student is encouraged both to analyze selected messages of the great expository preachers of the past and present and to prepare several original sermons (manuscript and classroom presentation) for evaluation. (Prerequisite: PT 155)

PT 160. Expository Preaching (3)
This course is designed to be an advanced investigation into the methods of building, organizing, and delivering expository sermons. The student is encouraged both to analyze selected messages of the great expository preachers of the past and present and to prepare several original sermons (manuscript and classroom presentation) for evaluation. (Prerequisite: PT 155)

PT 190. Ministerial Internship (12)
This program functions as a "laboratory experience" within the framework of a local church, including the participation of supervisory personnel and an extensive evaluation system. It is a requirement for all Church Leadership majors. Previous Christian service and ministry should not be considered as a basis for a waiver of internship, but rather viewed as an enhancement of a more mature internship experience. The course should be taken during the fall, spring, or summer semester of the junior year, or the fall of the senior year. Preparation should be made for the possibility of an out-of-town assignment. This course is offered on a credit/no credit basis.

Each Semester
PT 196. Seminar in Practical Theology (1-3)
Consideration of current topics in Practices.

TBA
PT 197. Practicum (1-3)
This elective course involves field work and performance in the area of specialization, emphasizing actual experience in that program of a local church.

Division of Education & Psychology

Majors: Psychology. Multiple Subjects

Divisional Objectives & Purposes

This division seeks to fulfill a critical portion of Bethany's mission of providing training in ministry related fields. Each of the division's areas of emphasis target important aspects of universal human need such as health, recovery, child development, and education. The division's programs, psychology, child development, addiction studies, and teacher training, each endeavor to balance depth in the areas of technique and methodology with breadth resulting from philosophical, cultural, and spiritual insight. The goal for each student emerging from these programs is an attitude of ardent truth-seeking and a love for leading others, child or adult, in those same paths.

The Major in Psychology

Psychology is offered as a major at Bethany because there is a broad base of interest in the behavioral sciences and because it helps fulfill the mission of preparing students in a ministry related career option. Studies in psychology require academic excellence. Successfully completed, such studies are transferable to most other institutions of higher education.

The major in psychology is usually seen as leading to graduate level studies in either research or applied areas. The major is especially recommended for those who contemplate further study or careers in psychology, counseling, remedial and compensatory education, and community mental health. In addition, a strong psychology background is excellent preparation for many areas of Christian ministry.

The Major in Multiple Subjects

The Multiple Subjects major is designed especially for students entering the teacher certification program. As a diversified major, it includes courses offered in several academic areas and fulfills many of the general studies requirements as well as the requirements for a major. Counseling of Multiple Subjects majors is provided by the members of the education faculty. Of the 84 units required, students must take at least 18 and no more than 24 units in each of four areas.

Requirements for the Multiple Subjects Major*

Multiple Subjects	84 Units
English, Literature, Speech	21
Mathematics, Science	21
Social Sciences	21
Humanities, Fine Arts, Languages	21

* See degree plan sheet for specific course requirements.

Requirements for entrance into the teaching program are listed on the following pages.

Program Leading to a Teaching Credential

To assist prospective teachers entering education as a field of ministry, Bethany has developed a credential program to prepare educators to serve in public or private schools. This goal is reflected in the stated objectives of the college.

Present California requirements are subsumed under the Ryan Act, or the Teacher Preparation and Licensing Law of 1979. The Legislation provides for a five-year program leading to the clear teaching credential. The Ryan Act designates requirements of teacher education programs and delineates types of credentials needed for teachers of pupils in grades K-12. Bethany's program has been approved by the California Commission on Teacher Credentialing (CTC). The person who anticipates teaching at the secondary level is advised to take one of the following academic majors offered at Bethany: English, Music, or Social Sciences. The CTC has approved completion of these programs at Bethany as verification of subject matter proficiency, a prerequisite for the Single Subject Credential needed to teach that specific area in California public schools, preschool through grade 12 or in classes for adults. The person who anticipates teaching in elementary schools should take a Multiple Subjects major. This approved subject matter program is a prerequisite required by CTC to teach within self-contained classrooms at any grade level, preschool through grade 12, or in classes for adults.

Preliminary Credential

The Ryan Act outlines two categories of certification relevant to the program at Bethany. These are the Preliminary and Clear Credentials. The student may choose to complete the requirements for a Preliminary Credential within a standard four year college program and be employed as a teacher at that point. A Preliminary Credential is issued for a period of five years and the requirements for a Clear Credential must be completed during that time. The requirements for a Preliminary credential are as follows:

1. A baccalaureate or higher degree, completed in an accredited institution in an academic program approved by CTC; a baccalaureate or higher degree completed in an accredited institution and a passing score on an exam in a given academic area approved by CTC.
2. A passing score on the California Basic Education Skills Test.
3. An approved professional preparation sequence of courses. At Bethany the following courses fill that requirement:

Professional Preparation Courses

Ed 103	Teaching of Reading †	3 units
Ed 141	Contemporary Issues and Programs in Education	2 units
Ed 145	Multicultural Instructional Methods	1 unit
Ps 150	Educational Psychology	2 units

4. A full semester (12) units of full-time supervised student teaching. This is actual teaching experience in a school, supervised by the college supervisor and under the direction of a master teacher from the school in which the student is teaching.
5. Demonstrated competency in U.S. Constitutional principles and provisions.
6. Demonstrated competency in English composition and verbal skills.

† 103 not required for Music Majors

‡ Music Majors substitute Mu 143

Clear Credential

The person who wishes to complete a Clear Credential may accomplish that without first obtaining a Preliminary. The requirements include all of the above items 1-6 plus:

- I. A one unit course in health science that examines the social and physical effects of the abuse of alcohol, narcotics and drugs, use of tobacco, and nutrition.
- II. A three unit course dealing with the education of the exceptional child which includes an examination of mainstreaming.
- III. A three unit course exploring the uses for computers in education.
- IV. A fifth year of study which could include one of the following areas:

A — An approved program of professional preparation that would include items 3, 4, 5, plus I, II, and III listed above.

B — Subject-matter study that will enhance teaching competence which may or may not lead to an advanced degree. (Assumes completion of 3,4,5, and I, II, and III above.)

C — Completion of an approved program for another or specialized credential. (Also Assumes completion of 3,4,5, and I, II, and III above.)

Admission Into the Teacher Preparation Program

Teacher preparation is a program of professional study in which Bethany certifies that students completing the program have the moral and academic qualifications needed to teach.

In general an applicant must demonstrate an acceptable foundation before acceptance. These requirements include:

1. Letters of reference verifying moral character and prior relevant experience within the classroom.
2. Overall G.P.A. of 2.5 or 2.75 in the last 60 units of study.
3. Certification of proficiency in English composition.§
4. Certification of proficiency in verbal skills in the English language.§
5. Certification of proficiency in the content of the U.S. Constitution.§
6. Completion of 1-3 units of Ed 197, Field Experience in Education.
7. Passing score on CBESE.

Students who do not yet qualify for entrance into the Teacher Preparation Program, may still enroll in Education courses, but will not be accepted into the Program until they have fulfilled all requirements listed in the Teacher Education Handbook, (re: pages IF.1 and IF.2).§

Applicants should also be advised that a criminal record may preclude the opportunity to teach in California schools. All prior offenses must be disclosed at the time of application. After the applicant demonstrates that all of the above are complete, the Teacher Education Committee will then interview the applicant. Denial of admission for any reason may be appealed. §

Eight Units constitute a full course load for students in this post baccalaureate program.

Admission to Student Teaching

Admittance into the Teacher preparation Program does not necessarily insure admission to student teaching. Student teaching is a privilege granted to the student through the courtesy of the public school district to which he/she is assigned. Prompt and regular attendance and complete cooperation with the master teacher is required. For this reason, the student should not plan to maintain outside employment while student teaching. Since he/she is expected to be in attendance at the assigned school for virtually the entire day, his/her academic load will also be limited that semester. Application for student teaching should be made on forms provided by the Department of Education. The Teacher Education Screening Committee will review all applications to determine eligibility for student teaching. Criteria will include:

1. G.P.A. A cumulative G.P.A. of 2.5, and 3.0 in all professional courses.
2. Courses Completed. The student should have passed the National Teachers Examination (NTE) or completed $\frac{1}{2}$ of a waiver program.
3. An examination of the student's cumulative personal record will be considered. Evidence of professional attitude and emotional stability are necessary. The state law also requires evidence of the absence of any criminal record. This is done by applying to the State for a Certificate of Clearance.§
4. Passing score on the CBESE.

§ See the Teacher Education Handbook, available from the Education Department Office, for further details.

Child Development

The program in Child Development has been designed to provide students with a broad base of intercultural studies equipping them to serve as missionaries to and teachers of children of varied cultures. Students are trained as professionals with a combined emphasis on early childhood teaching skills and child development, as well as intercultural studies which includes teaching English as a second language.

Upon completion of the four year program, students will be trained cross-culturally to work as children's missionaries and as teachers qualified to meet not only the child's spiritual needs, but also the very basic needs of life which include health, education and basic nurturing

Within the Child Development program students may select from three programs of study. These programs will meet the requirements specified by California law to teach in and direct child center programs. The programs consist of:

- A four year program which offers a BA in Intercultural Child Development – includes intercultural training, core child development classes as well as a 10 week internship at an overseas base.
- A three year program which offers an AA in Child Development – includes intercultural training as well as core child development classes.
- A two year program which offers an AA in Child Development – includes core child development classes.

Certification Program in Addiction Counseling (CPAC)

Bethany offers a program in addiction counseling that is recognized by the California Association of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Counselors (CAADAC). The Certified Addiction Counselor (CAC) program is open to persons who have not yet completed an undergraduate degree in psychology as well as to students who wish to complete the program as part of their degree program.

The 30 units of specialized study include courses in substance abuse, counseling and supervised field work. For students completing a normal four-year undergraduate major in psychology, the CAC program requires all or part of a fifth year.

Course Offerings (Division of Education & Psychology)

Child Development

CD 12. Activity Planning for Motor Development (1-2)

This course has been designed to introduce students to the theories and activities related to early development in young children. Practical ideas for developing motor curriculum will be introduced and will be experienced first hand in the ECLC training lab.

Spring

CD 35. Introduction to Early Childhood Education (3)

This course provides an overview of a career working with young children. Students are exposed to current issues and trends as well as the historical influences which have molded today's educational thought. Methods and approaches related to the actual learning process of the young child are presented. Students will explore areas of teaching which can be applied to children of any culture.

Fall

Spring

CD 173. Sensorial Education (3)

The course in sensorial education covers the theory and use of the five senses as an approach to educating children. These activities are used with young children to develop and refine sensory perception, language, movement, independence and social development. Specifics such as use of sensorial and practical life materials are each presented.

Spring

CD 174. Child, Parent, Community Relationships (3)

Involvement with parents and the community is key to the successful implementation of any early childhood program. This course presents practical methods for working effectively with parents as well as including them in the educational process. Specifics of working with children and their parents are presented.

Spring

CD 175. Nutrition and Health for the Young Child (2)

This course presents a curriculum of nutrition and health issues as they pertain to the young child. The science of proper nutrition as well as the instruction of nutrition principles is addressed. Students will also be guided in preparing curriculums which address issues in health care, specific illness and health issues which pertain particularly to the preschool aged child.

Fall

CD 190. Children's Missions Internship (1-3)

After completion of the core Child Development classes including the supervised field work, the student will be placed at an overseas base to fulfill the I.C.C.D., ten week internship. The student will be responsible to assist and work to establish sound principles of child care in nations around the world.

TBA

CD 197. Supervised Field Work (6)

This course may be taken in segments of 1-3 units each. The student will complete the field work in the E.C.L.C. lab school program under the supervision of the preschool director and the I.C.C.D. program director. Throughout the assignment the student will experience first hand the task of the teaching in the early childhood setting. Hours and labs are contingent on the number of units taken.

TBA

Education

Ed. 12. Reading and Study Skills (3)

Instruction and laboratory experience for the improvement of reading rate, vocabulary, comprehension and study skills. Graded on a credit/no credit basis. (Lab fee)

Each Semester

Ed 103. Teaching of Reading (3)

This course involves a study of various approaches to the teaching of reading. Its intent is to familiarize students with basic principles and techniques of analysis, application and evaluation of strategies for teaching readiness and reading in various socio-economic and cultural milieu. The course emphasizes comprehension, phonics and other decoding and encoding skills. Field experiences are provided. Multiple subjects majors in education are required to take this course.

Fall

Ed 141 Contemporary Issues and Programs in Education (2)

The issues and practices in the following areas of education will be explored:

A. The Education of the Socially and Culturally Different.

B. Student Welfare, School Supervision and Classroom Management.

C. School Finances, Politics and Community Resources.

D. Public Relations

Fall

Ed 145. Multicultural Instructional Methods (1)

Students will examine and observe principles of second-language acquisition, and use language teaching strategies and curriculum materials effective for and sensitive to the student from diverse cultural, socioeconomic and linguistic backgrounds.

Fall

Ed 160. Education and the Exceptional Child (Mainstreaming) (3)

This course is designed to familiarize students with the characteristics of and educational provisions for all types of exceptional children. Exceptional children include children who exhibit deviations from normal sensory, motor, perceptual, and mental development. The importance of identifying these areas and designing effective mainstreaming instruction for them is also stressed.

Fall

Ed 170. Curriculum Design (2)

Students develop and demonstrate 29 competencies in the following areas: Instructional objectives, screening, performance, goal and task analysis, subject matter and media selection, performance management and record keeping. This course is designed to allow the student to apply general curriculum design principles to his/her area of expertise in kindergarten through adult levels. Lab required (Prerequisite to Ed 171 & 172)

Fall

Ed 171. Applied Teaching Skills in Multiple Subjects (2)

The teacher candidate acquires specific subject matter teaching skills that focus generic pedagogical methods centered around the "Teacher-Effectiveness" research the candidate received in Ed 170. The candidate will interact with subject matter specialists, practicing teachers, and subject matter support networks in an effort to optimize planning, presentation and evaluation of curriculum in Math, Social Science and Language Arts. (Prerequisite: Ed 170)

Fall

Ed 172. Applied Teaching Skills in a Single Subject Area (2)

The teacher candidate will acquire specific subject matter teaching skills that focus generic pedagogical methods centered around the "Teacher Effectiveness" research the candidate received in Ed 170. The candidate will interact with subject matter specialists, practicing teachers and subject matter support networks in an effort to optimize planning, presentation and evaluation of curriculum in the content area he/she is preparing to teach. (Prerequisite: Ed 170)

Fall

Ed 181. Introduction to Computers (3)

The course is designed to provide an introduction to the uses of microcomputers in education and in society in general. Specifically, students will learn the function of the major components of microcomputer systems and how to use them. The history, mathematics, languages, jargon, and applications of computers will be covered. Examination of the manufacture of hardware and software will take place along with the criteria for the evaluation of both. The course will provide an elementary introduction to programming languages and applications programs. While this course is designed to produce a fair level of general computer literacy, it is also the initial required course in the "Computers in Education" certificate program. Lab fee.

Each Semester

Ed 182. Programming Microcomputers (3)

The emphasis in this course is on the integration of computer usage with sound educational and learning principles. Analysis of one's own teaching strengths and weaknesses (style) and how computers may be used to enhance or compensate for individual teacher differences will be carried out. Strategies for introducing computers into a school or classroom will be discussed.

TBA

Ed 183. Administrative Uses of Microcomputers (3)

The emphasis in this course is on administrative uses of computers in an educational setting. Analysis of one's own management strengths and weaknesses and how computers may be used to enhance or compensate for individual differences will be carried out. Strategies for introducing computers into a school or classroom will be discussed. Hands on familiarization with specific software packages relevant to administrative tasks will take place.

TBA

Ed 190A. Student Teaching (1-12)

The student teacher works through a highly-structured teaching experience designed to support and put the techniques and theories from the professional training courses into practice. Student teachers are involved in full-time supervised teaching experiences in the public and private schools. Participants will benefit from the college supervisor and master teacher, who will evaluate and coach each student teacher in private conferences. The course is open to a limited number of qualified students. (Prerequisite: completion of 4/5 of an academic major, the professional education sequence and CBEST)

Each Semester

Ed 190B. Intern Teaching (3-12)

The student teacher is involved in full-time supervised teaching experiences in public schools. The course is open to a limited number of qualified students. (Prerequisite: completion of an academic major and CBEST.)

Each Semester

Ed 196. Seminar in Teaching of Reading (1-3)

Current topics in the teaching of reading.

TBA

Ed 197. Introduction to the Teaching Profession (1)
This course allows the education student to obtain experience in the field. One unit is required before entrance into the Teacher Preparation Program. Fall

Ed 198. Guided Research in Education (1-3)
This is an independent research project undertaken by the student in consultation with the education faculty. The work will be empirical and quantifiable and will be reported using standard education research report format. (Prerequisite: Upper division status) TBA

Ed 199. Directed Readings in Education (1-3)
This course allows for in-depth reading in an area of education of the student's choosing in consultation with his/her advisor. (Prerequisite: upper division status) TBA

Mathematics

Ma 11. Math Skills (3)
A basic survey of arithmetic and practical mathematical applications for students whose computational skills and theoretical background are inadequate for college-level mathematics. Does not satisfy the minimal mathematics requirement for graduation. May be a prerequisite for some courses requiring computational skills. Lab Fee. Fall

Ma 12. College Mathematics (3)
This course constitutes a survey of mathematics fundamentals. Areas of study include set theory, algebra, metric, non-metric and coordinate geometry, personal and consumer mathematics, properties of whole numbers, integers and rational numbers. Lab Fee. Fall

Ma 13. College Algebra (3)
A systematic development of fundamental algebraic operations, including systems of linear equations, exponents and radicals, factoring, graphing, quadratic equations, inequalities, complex numbers, functions, and computation with logarithms. (Prerequisite: One year of high school algebra. Ma 12, or consent of the instructor.) Spring Yearly

Ma 119. Mathematical Concepts (3)
Topics explored in this course are numerals and systems of numeration, symbolic logic, permutations, combinations and probabilities. Emphasis will be given to developing the real number system. A discovery approach will be used. (Prerequisite: High school Algebra or consent of the instructor.) Yearly

Ma 133. Statistics (3)
This course is an introduction to techniques for the treatment of psychological and educational data. Among the topics discussed are frequency, distribution, percentiles, measures of central tendency, variability, the normal curve function and probability, simple correlation analyses, and some applications of sampling theory. Alternate Years

Ma 181. Introduction to Computers (3)
For Course description see Ed 181. Each Semester

Physical Education

PE 10. Health Science (1-2)
Health is defined as a state of complete physical, mental, social and spiritual well-being. Implied in this definition is the theme of inter-relatedness. Within this framework we will address such topics as family life, nutrition, and use and abuse of alcohol, tobacco and drugs. Fall

PE 10A-1. Physical Education (1/2, 1/2)
Students will participate in organized education activities, including group games, individual sports and basic skills in physical accomplishment. Four semesters required for graduation. Each Semester

PE 11A-1. Physical Education (1/2, 1/2)
Required of all sophomores. Classes meet twice each week. Each Semester

Psychology

Ps 1. General Psychology (3)
An introductory course in psychology. Study includes heredity, environment, personality, emotions, adjustment, physiology, perception, and the learning process. Each Semester

Ps 102. Child Growth and Development (3)
A study of child life from conception to adolescence, with emphasis upon the theories and process of development and upon responsible adult control of relevant phases of nurture. The course will include concrete experiences in working with children. (Prerequisite: Ps 1.) Yearly

Ps 112. Adolescent Psychology (3)
Covering the period of life from puberty to emergence from the teens, this course emphasizes the physical, mental, emotional, social, and personality growth with special attention to guidance toward acceptable behavior and the prevention of delinquent behavior. (Prerequisite: Ps 1.) Alternate Years

Ps 115A,B,C. Integrative Seminar in Psychology and Theology (1,1,1)
A study of the contemporary Evangelical efforts to develop a Christian psychology, focusing on the value of integrative efforts to both the theory and practice of psychology and theology. Discussion includes matters of behavior, cognition, emotion, and motivation. Ps 115C involves the writing of a high quality senior thesis. (Prerequisite: Ps 1 and upper division standing.) Three units must be completed for Psychology Major.

Ps 122. Psychology of Adulthood and Aging (3)
A study of the central concerns of adulthood and aging examined from a development perspective. Special attention is given to modes of interpersonal interaction and to how one's life view influences and is influenced by the aging process. (Prerequisite: Ps 1.) Yearly

Ps 133. Statistics (3)
This course is an introduction to techniques for the treatment of psychological and educational data. Among the topics discussed are frequency distributions, percentiles, measures of central tendency, variability, the normal curve function and probability, simple correlation analyses and some application of sampling theory. (Prerequisite: high school algebra with at least a C grade or Math 13 College Algebra or consent of instructor.) Yearly

Ps 135. Experimental Methods in Psychology (3)
The course is designed to acquaint the student with basic experimental procedures and designs, laboratory apparatus, and the collection and treatment of experimental data. Several experiments and experimental reports are required of each student. (Prerequisite: Ps 133.) Yearly

Ps 144. Principles of Counseling (3)
This study concerns methods and characteristic subjects likely to be of concern to the ministerial and professional counselor. The many aspects of working with individuals are investigated by means of case method and free discussion. (Prerequisite: 9 units of psychology.)
Yearly

Ps 146. Introduction to Human Services (3)
A course focusing on program management and case management skills and theory, particularly within the field of substance abuse. Specific areas of study will include protocol development, referral, consultation, record keeping, and resource development.
Yearly

Division of English & Communication Arts

Majors: English, Communication Arts.

Division Objectives & Purposes

The Division hopes to lead students into a better understanding of the cultural contributions to modern life and thought and to help prepare them for a world in which written, interpersonal, artistic, and performance communication have become increasingly important. Its desire is to see students come to appreciate human creativity in the areas of literature, drama, visual art and rhetoric, thereby gaining insight into those factors that constitute contemporary values. Artistic merit is to be appreciated for its own sake, but within each area of the Division it is also hoped to see evidenced the relationship of a particular art both to knowledge as a whole and to Christian and spiritual values in particular.

Course Objectives & Purposes

The Major in English

Bethany's concern is to see English majors acquire those language skills and reading habits that will enable them to communicate effectively in society. Exposure to the great literature of the past and present will enable students to understand with greater insight the world in which they live and the common problems of mankind. Such understanding will lead to more effective service regardless of the area of ministry.

The Minor in English

Bethany offers a minor in English for those students who complete twelve (12) units in the English 140-series and three (3) units of approved electives in the English-Communication Arts area.

Teaching English as a Second Language (TESL)

Emphasis: Upon completion of En 118, 137, 138 and 139, the College awards a certificate indicating an emphasis in Teaching English as a Second Language.

The Major in Communication Arts

With an emphasis on the written, vocal, and visual arts, the Communication Arts major provides form and freedom in an interdisciplinary program of theory as well as practice. The major seeks to expose students to the needs and possibilities in the areas of Communication Arts, to provide an academic balance between thinking and doing in the arts, and to encourage creativity in both church and secular areas. Bethany's concern is that students majoring in Communication Arts will be prepared for a variety of possible ministries in churches, schools, businesses, and other places as well as being prepared for further studies in graduate and/or professional schools.

LA 10B. Greek I (4)
The morphology of New Testament Greek will be completed, and basic syntax will be introduced. Extensive reading in the Greek New Testament is the core of the course. A vocabulary consisting of all words occurring forty or more times in the New Testament will be learned. (Prerequisite: BL10A)

LA 50A. Elements of Hebrew (3)
This course will focus on morphology of biblical Hebrew, including weak verbs. An initial vocabulary will be learned.

LA 50B. Elements of Hebrew (3)
Reading extensively in the Hebrew text will occupy the major portion of this course. Grammatical issues will be addressed as they are encountered in the text, acquainting the student with the use of reference grammars. Vocabulary control will be expanded. (Prerequisite: BL 50A)

LA 100A. Greek 2 (3)
Syntax of case, voice, tense, and mood will be studied. Inner-clause syntax will be learned through sentence diagramming. Vocabulary will be expanded, especially irregular verbs. (Prerequisite: BL 10B)

LA 100B. Greek 2 (3)
Inter-clause relationships will be studied through syntax of subordinate clauses. The bearing of semantics on exegesis will occupy a significant portion of this class. Review of verb conjugation and case, voice, tense and mood syntax will be given, as well as continued vocabulary building. (Prerequisite: BL 100A)

LA 118. Linguistics (3)
The study of the structure of words (morphology), the sounds and meanings of words (phonetics and semantics), and the structure of sentences (syntax). Certain aspects of the history of the English language will also be emphasized.

Spring

LA 137. Teaching English as a Second Language: Oral (3)
An introduction to the concepts, methods, and bibliography involved in the teaching of students learning to speak English as a second language.

LA 138. Teaching English as a Second Language: Written (3)
An introduction to the concepts, methods, and bibliography involved in the teaching of students learning to write English as a second language.

LA 139. TESL Tutorial (2)
Supervised practice in teaching non-native speakers of English. (Prerequisite: LA 137, 138)

Spring

Division of Music

Major: Music

Division Objectives & Purposes

Since music plays an important role in society as a whole, the music major prepares the student for a variety of roles; ① minister of music, ② music teacher, kindergarten through grade 12, ③ musical performer, ④ composer, and ⑤ other forms of employment where a general knowledge of music is required. An effort is made to balance the theoretical and the practical so that the musician is able to perform appealingly and, at the same time, understand the structure and theory of music.

Course Objectives & Purposes

The student completing this major will be able to:

1. Evaluate the role of music in light of the total ministry of a church.
2. Teach music in public and/or private schools.
3. Perform artistically.
4. Evaluate various instrumental and vocal media.
5. Evaluate music structurally, historically, and aesthetically.

It should be recognized that the music program requires four years of lessons. Private lessons require an acceptable level of performance, and they are charged for at a higher rate than regular classroom courses. Students choosing a music major should be prepared to complete this special requirement.

Transfer students will be given placement examinations in theory, sight singing, piano, and applied music. Students whose scores indicate a degree of inadequacy will be required to enroll in appropriate lower division courses.

Concentrations

The student may select from six areas of concentration.

Students admitted to the minister of music concentration must demonstrate leadership ability, communication skills, emotional stability, and positive interpersonal relationships. Students should apply for admission to the Minister of Music concentration at the end of their Sophomore year.

Students admitted to the performance concentration must demonstrate evidence of exceptional talent, well developed musicianship, artistic sensibilities, and a strong sense of commitment. Students should apply for admission to the performance concentration at the end of their Freshman year. Candidates will subsequently be evaluated each semester.

The above 50-65 units represent the academic courses which constitute the major. In addition, the courses and activities listed below must be taken to establish proficiency in applied music. Piano proficiency must be met before enrolling in the 100-level music theory courses.

Piano Proficiency: All students majoring in music must pass a piano proficiency examination or register in piano until the examination is passed. Students will demonstrate skill in piano playing by ① sight-reading a four-part hymn or chorale, ② improvising a simple accompaniment to a melody, and ③ performing a prepared piece such as Bach, Two-Part Inventions; Beethoven, Sonatas, Op.49; or Schumann, Album for the Young. (Music Education concentration contact the music office for exam content.)

Voice Proficiency: All students majoring in music must pass a voice proficiency examination or register in voice until the examination is passed. Students will demonstrate skill in voice by ① sight singing two of the four parts of a hymn or chorale, ② singing vocalises equivalent to Siever, Op.96, and ③ singing a vocal solo equivalent to those in Expressive Singing, Vol. 1 by Christy.

Music Lessons: Lessons are required each semester of residence up to 8 semesters. Select from Mu 50-57 and Mu 150-157. A satisfactory grade in jury auditions is required each semester in the major performing instrument.

Music Activities: Participation in a major performing group is required each semester of residence up to 8 semesters. (Keyboard majors select Mu 24/124 with consent of music faculty. Voice majors select Mu 22/122. Instrumental majors select Mu 25/125.)

Music Recital: Regular attendance at music recitals is required.

Senior Recital: A satisfactory senior recital is required for all students majoring in music.

Division of Social & Natural Sciences

Majors: *Intercultural Relations, Social Science,
Social Science with teaching credential*
A.A. Degrees: General Business, Office Administration

Divisional Objectives and Purposes

The Division of Social and Natural Sciences aims to develop the student's understanding of self, environment, nation and world, and to create awareness of the relationship between Christian faith and the created universe, scientific method, and shared human destiny. The social processes of history, and the dynamics of societal and governmental structures are foundational to the grasp of contemporary world events and trends. The Division provides training in mathematical and business skills, as well as in the social sciences essential for effectively relating with people of other cultures, including ethnic groups within modern U.S. society. These skills are seen to be indispensable for today's Christians in whatever ministry or career field.

The Major in Intercultural Relations

The Intercultural Relations major stresses development of skills for relating effectively with people of different cultures—skills in ever-increasing demand within multi-ethnic America as well as internationally. The Intercultural Relations major with missions emphasis gives an excellently balanced program for prospective missionaries and church growth specialists. The Intercultural Relations major with professional studies emphasis provides outstanding training for educators, business persons, government workers or others who may not pursue a full-time religious vocation, as well as for missionaries, and offers excellent preparation for further academic studies in seminary or secular university.

The Major in Social Science

The interdisciplinary Social Science major leads to an understanding of the contemporary world through courses in several of the social sciences, including anthropology, economics, geography, history, political science and sociology. The major provides basic courses in human cultural and social organization, the operation of the modern nation-state, world history and contemporary social developments in the emergent nations. The major is particularly suited for careers in industry, government, higher education, and other fields emphasizing a broad, interdisciplinary formation.

Each Semester

Sc 10. Physical Science (3)

An introduction to physical science as a method and a unified body of knowledge. The course examines the laws of motion and universal gravitation, thermodynamics, electricity, magnetism, electromagnetism, and inorganic chemistry, nuclear physics organic chemistry and biochemistry. Prerequisite: Ma 12 (or 2 years of high school algebra) and Sc 5 (or 2 years of high school science).

Yearly

Sc 12. General Biology (3)

A survey of the plant and animal kingdoms, including principles of cell biology, ecology and physiology. (Lecture and Laboratory) (Prerequisite: Sc 5)

Each Semester

Sc 20. Physiology of Substance Abuse (3)

This course examines the physiological effects of alcohol and drugs, their tolerance, withdrawal effects, and patterns of addiction. (Does not meet general studies science requirements.)

TBA

Sc 115. Field Biology (3)

A survey of the local flora and fauna. Identification and classification of life forms found in the Santa Cruz area will be emphasized. (Lecture, laboratory, and field study.) (Prerequisite: Sc 12.)

Yearly

Sc 117. Conservation Ecology (3)

This is a study of the relationship of plants and animals to their environment. The harmony of the plant and animal communities, including food production, the food chain, energy recycling and human influence, will be emphasized. Ecological principles of conservation and their economic and aesthetic importance will also be stressed. Lecture and Laboratory. (Prerequisite: Sc 12.)

Alternate Years

Sc 118. Discovery Approach to Science (3)

Selected topics from the physical sciences will be developed via the discovery approach. The course is designed to provide first-hand experience in problem-solving by the utilization of the scientific method. Activities and demonstrations which require active student participation will be the primary approach to the development of the topics selected. (Prerequisite: Sc 10 or Sc 12 plus lab science or instructor's permission. Does not meet general studies science requirements.)

Alternate Years

Sc 20. Physiology of Substance Abuse (3)

This course examines the physiological effects of alcohol and drugs, their tolerance, withdrawal effects, and patterns of addiction. (Does not meet general studies science requirements.)

TBA

Sc 115. Field Biology (3)

A survey of the local flora and fauna. Identification and classification of life forms found in the Santa Cruz area will be emphasized. (Lecture, laboratory, and field study.) (Prerequisite: Sc 12.)
